R. H. KNAPPEN

This writer was pleasantly surprised to read about the hurried execution of six Nazi saboteurs and the imprisonment of two others. I had feared, as had many others, that man's inhumanity to man so rampant in other parts of this troubled world had been thoroughly lost in this land where, for some decades past, we have been striving for better things.

We here in America must never forget that we are fighting a "skid row" war, a war in which no holds are barred, and gouging, kicking, and clawing are the order of the day. So far we have been a bit too chivalrous for our own good — and there's no time or place for chivalry when the enemy has his knife at your throat. No indeed; that is the time to stab him in the back if you have any chance of getting away with it.

Saboteurs apprehended in Germany, I believe, are summarily shot, without the formality of a trial. And hereafter we of the United States should be spared the pain and expense of lengthy trials for wreckers of our war effort—to say nothing of the time lost by a group of army officers whose energy could well be expended toward the prosecution of the war.

Good news comes in bunches, apparently, and the headline, "Pelley Gets 15 Years for Treason" made good reading. I have watched with considerable trepidation the spotty and sordid career of Mr. Pelley, and had made up my mind several years ago that he would look very well behind the bars of a federal penitentiary. Of all the potential Hitlers whom we have been harboring, Pelley struck me as being the most dangerous. Some of the others made more noise, and perhaps aired their views before larger gatherings—but Pelley was the fox of them all. Coldly calculating, and looking somewhat like the rabid rat that he is, the leader of the Silvershirts constituted a serious menace to the American way of life. Again comparing ourselves with the Germans: Had Pelley been a citizen of the Third Reich, and had he opposed Hitler's ideology as he has opposed American democracy, he would have been a dead man long since. Let us hope that some fool parole board does not let him loose before he's had time to think things over — the full 15 years may do it.

It is interesting, as well, as highly important, the onslaught of U. S. marines and soldiers against the Japs in the Solomons. If our forces continue to be successful in this battle it may well mean the turning of the tide in the south Pacific. Whether or not MacArthur has the necessary men and material for an all-out offensive remains to be seen, but if he does have them there's no doubt that he will employ them at the first opportunity—and this looks like the situation he has been waiting for. Some criticism of the General has been heard: "If he's so good, why doesn't he get going," and the like. Well, it must be remembered that he started from scratch in Australia, and everything he needs to wage successful war on the Japs has to go a long way—and he has intimated that he doesn't want to start something he can't finish. If he's starting now, we may rest assured that he'll finish up in the money if not hampered by too little too late in the way of reinforcements.

Frank Freeman Talks 'Odds, Ends' To Kiwanians

Frank Freeman, author of the "Here 'tis" column in the Mercury Herald entertained the Kiwanis club Tuesday, talking on odds and ends in the news. These were largely unusual, peculiar or amusing things which he had run across in his years of newspaper work. He exhibited several scrap books of humorous stories which he has collected.

He was presented by Herbert Shadle, program chairman. W. H. Van Dyke, vice president, presided in the absence of President Jack Murdock.

Next Tuesday Ralph Fields will be guest speaker, his subject: "A Comparison of Education in Germany and the United States." Chairman will be Carl Field.

Farnham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ellis Crane; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. R. Morgan; directors at large, Mrs. A. W. Wellington and Mrs Charles Simonds.

Frank Reidy, Pear Grower, Out for State Assembly

Frank J. Reidy, well known pear grower, is a candidate for the State Assembly from the 29th district. Reidy was born in California. He attended San Jose grammar and high schools, and graduated from Stanford University.

For a time he taught mathematics and physics in the San Jose High school. He resigned from this position and went into the orchard business on the Alviso-Milpitas road. He operated a pear orchard there for some twenty years. Reidy was elected as the first president of the Santa Clara Pear Growers association.

Miss Margaret Keesling entertained the following guests Tuesday and Wednesday of this week: Mrs. George Rice and Miss Lillian Danielson of Los Angeles and Miss Ruth Lindquist of Berkeley.

Engagement of Margaret Keesling Is Announced

Announcement has been made revealing the engagement of Miss Margaret Keesling to Harold Courtney of Honolulu. "Red" as he is better known to his Campbell friends has been working for the U. S. Engineering department in Hawaii for the last year and a half.

Miss Keesling announced her engagement at an Hawaiian party given at her home on Rincon avenue Wednesday, August 5. The Hawaiian atmosphere was in prominence and the news was revealed on individual gardenias passed to the guests by Miss Dorothy Keesling as she danced a hula to the strains of "To You, Sweetheart Aloha."

Those invited to the party were the Misses Charlotte Rohr, Betty Walker, Veva Nichols, Lois Bachman, Helen Kashka, Audrey Overshiner, Rae Moore, Edythe Passarell, Lola Johnson, Ruth Lindquist, Laurene Seguin, Bonnie Bowman, Barbara Root and Lorraine Shaves.

Mesdames Kenneth Grigg, Joseph McGinty, Richard Slauter, Brooke Williams, O. E. Roe, Harold Gardner, Slwood Austin, Jack Murdock, John Donning, Leland Lea, George Leese, Bud Bachman, Mel Ward, Mel McDonald, Sylvia Kent, Joseph Voytek, Elmer Lloyd, Cecil Keesling, Willis Noethig, Howard Church and the hostess's mother, Mrs Archie Keesling.

On Friday evening, Aug. 7 Miss Keesling and her mother entertained the teachers from the Ann Darling school in San Jose. The announcement was presented by a record made by Rev. and Mrs. Donald Baldwin, Laurine Seguin and Miss Keesling. The invited guests were Mesdames Esther Woolscroft, Audrey Knight, Ethel Bridgman and the Misses Laurine Seguin and Mildred Concklin.

Agriculture Dept. Head Likes M. G. Del Mutolo, Senate

The farmers of California know that Assemblyman M. G. Del Mutolo, an independent candidate for Santa Clara county's vacant seat in the State Senate, has a consistent record as a friend of agriculture.

Word received from W. J. Cecil, director of the state department of agriculture wishes Del Mutolo every success in his campaign.

He states: "You supported legislation to assist them in marketing their crops cooperatively and helped the passage of the mortgage moratorium laws. You believed in low-cost money and tried to make it the permanent concern of the state that farm loans be available at lowest possible interest rates.

"In this hour of peril every facility of government should be extended to the farmers to permit them to contribute their full share to the immediate task of winning the war. You have shown a lively interest in farm legislation and a firm conviction that the farmer is the backbone of our society. This is as it should be, for upon the farmer rests an appreciable part of the burden of winning this war."

Landlords of rentable living accommodations in the San Francisco Bay Defense rental area, other than operators of hotels and rooming houses have only this week in which to file their statements. The "deadline" for this classification is midnight, Aug. 15.

Thompson In Race For Assembly Post

John F. (Jack) Thompson, Evergreen rancher and candidate for the State Assembly from Santa Clara county's 29th district has a five point program upon which he is campaigning for election. Placing emphasis on an "all out for victory" approach to the outstanding points are: Complete support of the federal administration in the war effort and all-out support for agriculture.

Thompson, who is 46, was born in Cupertino. He has lived most of his life in the Evergreen district and received his education in local schools. A prune and apricot grower with a ranch in the Union district, he has also held a number of agricultural positions which he feels have given him a broad and basic understanding of the valley's agricultural problems. He has served as field supervisor for the United Prune Growers of California Prune Control board and for the Pacific Prune Products association. He served four years as chief inspector for the prune pro-rate, resigning in 1941 to accept an appointment as marketing specialist for the United States department of agriculture. Thompson, who served in the merchant marine in the last war, has a son in the navy and a brother H. Y. Thompson also in the navy.

THE INCUMBENT JUDGE

"Civil service" is a term that suggests fairness to those reasonably faithful to their jobs. To elective offices, however, civil service does not apply. But its spirit we often apply voluntarily, by reelecting incumbents who so deserve.

Judicial incumbents are usually returned, and with good reason. The judge is an umpire. He should look at every case on all sides. This point of view gradually becomes "second nature." The incumbent judge, if reasonably intelligent, should grow better and better.

Since I have had no reversals of judgment on appeal in the past I naturally expect few in the future. And if you think my general argument here is sound, I shall greatly appreciate your vote on August 25.

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

July 23, 1942.

Hon. John Z. Anderson,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Anderson:

With the recessing of Congress in the making, I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the valuable aid and assistance that you have rendered during this session of Congress as a member of the Naval Affairs Committee.

No doubt you are aware of the fact that the Committee has passed fifty-two bills through the House involving authorizations of over seventeen billion dollars. As a matter of fact, our committee has presented to the House more bills than any of the other major committees of Congress. In addition thereto, we have carried on an investigation and been instrumental in bringing about renegotiations of contracts and accomplishing a saving to the government of over seven hundred million dollars and have passed through the House a bill to prohibit sales engineers or sales agents of manufacturers from getting commissions on government contracts. In other words, with your aid and assistance, we have broken up the racket of contingent fees to these sales agents who have been fleecing the taxpayers.

You have been most regular in attendance at all committee meetings and have supported every Navy Department bill which has been before the committee. You have the satisfaction of knowing that you have done your full part in the war effort.

On the numerous occasions that I have designated you to make inspection of important naval activities, you have measured up to my highest expectations.

Not only have you supported all the naval bills which have come before the committee, but you have supported the administration's foreign policy in its entirety. You have constantly been on the job, and there is no member of the committee that I have relied upon more than you for your sound judgment and assistance.

Sincerely yours,
Carl Vinson, Chairman
Naval Affairs Committee.

Carl Vinson is one of the Administration's Leaders in the House of Representatives. His letter to your Congressman is indisputable evidence of the efficiency, co-operation and high type of representation which the Eighth Congressional District must maintain.

As many as 200 flies have been found trapped in one bloom of the Guatemala fly catcher plants in the Jungle Gardens at Vero Beach, Fla. Insects are drawn by the peculiar, fetid odor of the plant into its inner chambers, captured by thousands of tiny hairlike fibers, and held there to die.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

Only the Stars Are Neutral by Quentin Raynolds.

To read one of this author's books is treating yourself to a rare pleasure. Yes, a rare pleasure, even though the book is about the war—its horribleness and its treacherous turns and tricks. Those of you who read his first book titled "The Wounded Don't Cry" will need no words of urgent appeal to entice you to read this book. Truthfully, and with honest praise, "Only the Stars are Neutral" outshines his first book by a wide margin.

"Quent" as his fellow newspaper correspondents call him, in the preface of this book states that "This book is as personal as a toothache, a liking for spinach or a taste in fancy ties. It is the story of the things I saw and the people I met in a year's roving from one theater of war to another."

He was in London on May 10 in 1941 when the most terrific and devastating German blitz took place, and his matter-of-fact style of writing about the most exciting and bloody days of the bombing carries a weight of bomb force in celebrated simplicity. It is said that he has an uncanny ability to be in places when important events occur, but from what I can comprehend from his writing, I would say that it is not his uncanny ability, but his uncanny and dogged news sense that drives him on to new and fertile fields and to find he is always there on the spot when something happens is because he has made it a point to be there. It is his indomitable desire to be in the thick of battle, and his burning determination to act that spurs him on to scenes of conflict .

His account of the many objections and obstacles that he had to overcome when he wanted to get to Moscow about the time the Germans were knocking at the gates of that great city, is as cunning, as exciting and as informative a piece of script as has been printed in ages. He not only pulled political strings to get his visa but pulled social and industrial ties as well. Modestly he relates his accomplishments, but not without that light and personal punch that all of his writings employ. In the company of none other than Oumansky, the Russian ambassador to our own United States, does he fly to Moscow and in none other than one of the finest of our bomber planes.

He was Stalin's guest at dinner, having as his companions notables like Harry Hopkins, Averell Harriman, Lord Beaverbrook and many others. From Moscow to Cairo the author travels, and upon landing in Egypt he was again deep in fierce fighting with headlines waiting for him to make the most of.

The author's name is enough to tell you that his book is one you cannot afford to pass up.

ANDERSON TO SPEAK OVER KQW FRIDAY

Congressman Jack Anderson will go on the air Friday (tomorrow) night in San Jose for one of the most important talks in his public career, when he will discuss American labor and the war effort, and tell of his policies in the disposition of labor legislation in the House of Representatives.

The Congressman's talk will reply to the criticism directed at him by a few labor organizations in this area for his stand on certain labor measures in connection with the war effort. In his talk it is expected he will tell his labor listeners what William Green had to say about his voting record.

Anderson declared he was pushing his survey work as rapidly as possible in anticipation of a call back to Washington. He thanked the thousands of friends and supporters who are carrying his campaign while he continues his official duties.

"Experience Counts," Says D.A., Fitzgerald

"The proper conduct of the county's business requires, in addition to legal and trial ability, a wide experience and a broad knowledge of administrative matters and procedure.

"The function of the District Attorney as public prosecutor is the more spectacular and dramatic feature of the work, and hence, is the more widely known to the general public. The District Attorney is legal advisor to the board of supervisors, the school districts, and all the boards, commissions and officers throughout the whole structure of county government. The successful handling of this work, so necessary to an efficient, well run county government, depends upon a broad knowledge gained only through years of experience with such public matters.

"To these two fundamental divisions has been added, since Dec. 7, 1941, the administration of civilian regulation made necessary by the war in the form of legal advice to county and emergency officers and civilian defense administrators and cooperation with the armed forces of the United States in preparation and drawing up of necessary emergency county legislation.

"It is my belief that my years of experience in the district attorney's office, both as deputy and as chief, together with a well-trained staff of assistants, eminently qualify me to be retained in office at this time."

Acid Indigestion

What many Doctors do for it

Coroner Jessie Spalding Seeks Re-Election

"In the nearly four years I have conducted the office of coroner and public administrator it has been my policy to cooperate fully with other departments of county government, and with all those having business with the office. I believe the service I have given during my incumbency definitely proves that a woman can conduct this important office with honor and dignity. One of the things of which I am most proud is the recognition I have brought my county through honors accorded me since I have been coroner and public administrator.

"The coroner is called upon many times to deal with situations in which tragedy plays a leading role, and to take whatever steps we believe are needed in the interests of the county, of justic, or those most directly concerned. There is opportunity here for an inexperienced officer to needlessly run up costs for the taxpayer. We have avoided this, but without jeopardizing the interests of anyone concerned.

"The office of public administrator, while not so much in the public eye, is none the less important. Here we deal with the handling of estates left by those who die intestate or without provisions for disposal of their property.

"I submit the record of my office as the most convincing evidence of a job well done. I am proud of the record my office has made, and I believe the people of Santa Clara county will decide this election upon the basis of service performed for them."

Palo Altan Seeks Senate Position

"The political direction of the State of California may well be determined by the outcome of four contests for the State Senate," asserted Assemblyman Byrl R. Salsman, now a candidate for the State Senate, for Santa Clara county, in a talk to a group of Santa Clara valley frmers. One is the 18th district, being Santa Clara county, where there is a vacancy.

It is pointed out by Salsman that the assembly will undoubtedly be in control of members of the metropolitan area of the state, and that in the lower house the legislative demands of Los Angeles and San Francisco will meet with little effective opposition. If the four Senate seats in question fall to the Olson candidate, then the program of the Governor, if he should be re-elected, will meet with little opposition in either house. If on the other hand Earl Warren should be elected Governor, and the Olson candidates succeed to the four Senate seats in question, then the new Governor would find it most difficult to carry out a program with such heavy legislative opposition.

"Santa Clara county," declared Salsman, "must not be one of the Senate seats to fall under domination of the Governor. If that should occur, then this county's farm problems are likely to receive scant attention from a metropolitan dominated state administration."

At the conclusion of his talk, Assemblyman Salsman announced wide spread farm support for his candidacy, particularly from the many groups interested in California agriculture.

PROPER CARE OF YOUR APPLIANCES WILL SAVE WEAR

Clean your appliances frequently so that they will always be ship-shape for tip-top service. Remember when dirt and dust wear in, your appliances wear out. For example, empty the dust bag of your vacuum cleaner after each sweeping; clean out the crumbs in your toaster; wash the interior of your refrigerator after each defrosting; remove the soap scum and lint from your washer immediately after use and remove the dust film from lamp shades and fixtures. Do these simple little things regularly and your appliances will do more and last longer.

PROPER USE WILL SAVE REPAIR

Unintentional abuse of appliances leads to unnecessary repair or break down. Avoid letting your cleaner chew up nails or coins or hairpins. Be careful not to drop or jar appliances with heating elements. Do not overwork your washer by using too much water or overloading with too many clothes. Cook by accurate time and temperature control. Be careful to keep room temperatures down to the comfort level.
